	CLASSIF CATION BECRET 25X1A
COUNTA	AST Apprended For Release 2002/01/10: CIA-RDPROPOST 04000
TOPIC	Military Information from Oschatz	i Mentantanan seperapa
	25X1A 25X1A	Market National Company Lab
EVALUATION	PLACE OBTAINED	and an international and the same
DATE OF CONT	25¥1∧
	22 January 1953	•
DATE OBTAINE		- Burnelle Step 1984
REFERENCES_		manufacture X on 1/2
PAGES	ENCLOSURES (No. & TYPE)	geri e dinaman partur. Lisa
REMARKS		e mandartinge-in-co-d
CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY OF THE		name and the state of companya companya tangga t	Discussion of the Control of the Con	CORRECTION OF THE SECOND
CONTRACTOR AND THE CONTRACTOR OF A LABOUR DE ANTINOMINA (FOR MATERIAL PROPERTY)		·
	25X1X
	On 2 January 1753, the Fliegerhorst Kaserne in Oschatz was still occupied by about 900 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including about 600 soldiers with tank insignia. About 60 soldiers did fatigue duty in the billeting area and troop quarters in the afternoon. Heavy weapons could not be observed. The view into the billeting area was blocked by the newly repaired fence. On 2 January, the Infanterie Kaserne was still occupied by about 350
	by about 900 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including about 600 soldiers with tank insignia. About 60 soldiers did fatigue duty in the billeting area and troop quarters in the afternoon. Heavy weapons could not be observed. The view into the billeting area was blocked by the newly repaired fence. On 2 January, the Infanterie Kaserne was still occupied by about 350 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and 600 soldiers with black-bordered crimson epaulets. In the morning, 6 soldiers serviced 3 trucks and 1 sedan in front of the garages in the western sector of the installation, and about 15 soldiers did maintenance work on 3 BA-64 armored scout cars in a garage. About 30 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were observed working on 18 gun carriages belonging to 120-mm mortars. Fifteen trucks were seen in the garages in the eastern sector of the installation. Three platoons of about 30 EM each left the
	by about 900 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including about 600 soldiers with tank insignia. About 60 soldiers did fatigue duty in the billeting area and troop quarters in the afternoon. Heavy weapons could not be observed. The view into the billeting area was blocked by the newly repaired fence. On 2 January, the Infanterie Kaserne was still occupied by about 350 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and 600 soldiers with black-bordered crimson epaulets. In the morning, 6 soldiers serviced 3 trucks and 1 sedan in front of the garages in the western sector of the installation, and about 15 soldiers did maintenance work on 3 BA-64 ermored scout cars in a garage. About 30 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were observed working on 18 gun carriages belonging to 120-mm mortars. Fifteen trucks were seen in the garages in the eastern sector
	by about 900 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including about 600 soldiers with tank insignia. About 60 soldiers did fatigue duty in the billeting area and troop quarters in the afternoon. Heavy weapons could not be observed. The view into the billeting area was blocked by the newly repaired fence. On 2 January, the Infanterie Kaserne was still occupied by about 350 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and 600 soldiers with black-bordered crimson epaulets. In the morning, 6 soldiers serviced 3 trucks and 1 sedan in front of the garages in the western sector of the installation, and about 15 soldiers did maintenance work on 3 BA-64 armored scout cars in a garage. About 30 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were observed working on 18 gun carriages belonging to 120-mm mortars. Fifteen trucks were seen in the garages in the eastern sector of the installation. Three platoons of about 30 EM each left the Infanterie Kaserne. The soldiers wore black-bordered crimson epaulets and were armed with rifles and submachine guns. A group of 20 EM with red-bordered black epaulets, led by a captain and a lieutenant, hauled 4 x 122-mm mortars from the installation toward the Cartenkolonie where 5 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were practicing aiming with
	by about 900 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including about 600 soldiers with tank insignia. About 60 soldiers did fatigue duty in the billeting area and troop quarters in the afternoon. Heavy weapons could not be observed. The view into the billeting area was blocked by the newly repaired fence. On 2 January, the Infanterie Kaserne was still occupied by about 350 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and 600 soldiers with black-bordered crimson epaulets. In the morning, 6 soldiers serviced 3 trucks and 1 sedan in front of the garages in the western sector of the installation, and about 15 soldiers did maintenance work on 3 BA-64 armored scout cars in a garage. About 30 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were observed working on 18 gun carriages belonging to 120-mm mortars. Fifteen trucks were seen in the garages in the eastern sector of the installation. Three platoons of about 30 EM each left the Infanterie Kaserne. The soldiers wore black-bordered crimson epaulets and were armed with rifles and submachine guns. A group of 20 EM with red-bordered black epaulets, led by a captain and a lieutenant, hauled 4 x 122-mm mortars from the installation toward the Gartenkolonie where	25)
2.	by about 900 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including about 600 soldiers with tank insignia. About 60 soldiers did fatigue duty in the billeting area and troop quarters in the afternoon. Heavy weapons could not be observed. The view into the billeting area was blocked by the newly repaired fence. On 2 January, the Infanterie Kaserne was still occupied by about 350 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and 600 soldiers with black-bordered crimson epaulets. In the morning, 6 soldiers serviced 3 trucks and 1 sedan in front of the garages in the western sector of the installation, and about 15 soldiers did maintenance work on 3 BA-64 armored secut cars in a garage. About 30 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were observed working on 18 gun carriages belonging to 120-mm mortars. Fifteen trucks were seen in the garages in the eastern sector of the installation. Three plateons of about 30 EM each left the Infanterie Kaserne. The soldiers were black-bordered crimson epaulets and were armed with rifles and submachine guns. A group of 20 EM with red-bordered black epaulets, led by a captain and a lieutenant, hauled 4 x 122-mm mortars from the installation toward the Cartenkolonie where 5 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were practicing aiming with 2 mortars of the same caliber.
	by about 900 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including about 600 soldiers with tank insignia. About 60 soldiers did fatigue duty in the billeting area and troop quarters in the afternoon. Heavy weapons could not be observed. The view into the billeting area was blocked by the newly repaired fence. On 2 January, the Infanterie Kaserne was still occupied by about 350 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and 600 soldiers with black-bordered crimson epaulets. In the morning, 6 soldiers serviced 3 trucks and 1 sedan in front of the garages in the western sector of the installation, and about 15 soldiers did maintenance work on 3 BA-64 armored secut cars in a garage. About 30 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were observed working on 18 gun carriages belonging to 120-mm mortars. Fifteen trucks were seen in the garages in the eastern sector of the installation. Three platoons of about 30 EM each left the Infanterie Kaserne. The soldiers wore black-bordered crimson epaulets and were armed with rifles and submachine gums. A group of 20 EM with red-bordered black epaulets, led by a captain and a lieutenant, hauled 4 x 122-mm mortars from the installation toward the Cartenkolonie where 5 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were practicing aiming with 2 mortars of the same caliber. Comment. The previous two reports
2.	by about 900 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including about 600 soldiers with tank insignia. About 60 soldiers did fatigue duty in the billeting area and troop quarters in the afternoon. Heavy weapons could not be observed. The view into the billeting area was blocked by the newly repaired fence. On 2 January, the Infanterie Kaserne was still occupied by about 350 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and 600 soldiers with black-bordered crimson epaulets. In the morning, 6 soldiers serviced 3 trucks and 1 sedan in front of the garages in the western sector of the installation, and about 15 soldiers did maintenance work on 3 BA-64 ermored scout cars in a garage. About 30 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were observed working on 13 gun carriages belonging to 120-mm mortars. Fifteen trucks were seen in the garages in the eastern sector of the installation. Three platoons of about 30 EM each left the Infanterie Kaserne. The soldiers wore black-bordered crimson epaulets and were armed with rifles and submachine guns. A group of 20 EM with red-bordered black epaulets, led by a captain and a lieutenant, hauled 4 x 122-mm mortars from the installation toward the Cartenkolonie where 5 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were practicing aiming with 2 mortars of the same caliber. Comment. The previous two reports Comment. The previous two reports Comment. The previous two reports Comments. See The present report indicates no major changes. For some time, there have been no indications that the unidentified	25) 25X
2.	by about 900 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including about 600 soldiers with tank insignia. About 60 soldiers did fatigue duty in the billeting area and troop quarters in the afternoon. Heavy weapons could not be observed. The view into the billeting area was blocked by the newly repaired fence. On 2 January, the Infanterie Kaserne was still occupied by about 350 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and 600 soldiers with black-bordered crimson epaulets. In the morning, 6 soldiers serviced 3 trucks and 1 sedan in front of the garages in the western sector of the installation, and about 15 soldiers did maintenance work on 3 BA-64 armored scout cars in a garage. About 30 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were observed working on 18 gun carriages belonging to 120-mm mortars. Fifteen trucks were seen in the garages in the eastern sector of the installation. Three platoons of about 30 EM each left the Infanterie Kaserne. The soldiers wore black-bordered crimson epaulets and were armed with rifles and submachine guns. A group of 20 EM with red-bordered black epaulets, led by a captain and a lieutenant, hauled 4 x 122-mm mortars from the installation toward the Cartenkolonie where 5 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were practicing aiming with 2 mortars of the same caliber. Comment. The previous two reports
2.	by about 900 troops wearing red-bordered black epaulets including about 600 soldiers with tank insignia. About 60 soldiers did fatigue duty in the billeting area and troop quarters in the afternoon. Heavy weapons could not be observed. The view into the billeting area was blocked by the newly repaired fence. On 2 January, the Infanteric Kaserne was still occupied by about 350 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and 600 soldiers with black-bordered crimson epaulets. In the morning, 6 soldiers serviced 3 trucks and 1 sedan in front of the garages in the western sector of the installation, and about 15 soldiers did maintenance work on 3 BA-64 ermored scout cars in a garage. About 30 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were observed working on 18 gun carriages belonging to 120-mm mortars. Fifteen trucks were seen in the garages in the eastern sector of the installation. Three platoons of about 30 EM each left the Infanteric Kaserne. The soldiers wore black-bordered crimson epaulets and were armed with rifles and submachine guns. A group of 20 EM with red-bordered black epaulets, led by a captain and a lieutenant, hauled 4 x 122-mm mortars from the installation toward the Gartenkolonic where 5 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets were practicing aiming with 2 mortars of the Sth Tank Div stationed at the Fliegerhorst Kaserne, and the 8th Mtz Rifle Regt of the same division at the Infanteric Kaserne in Oschatz. See Comment. The previous two reports The present report indicates no major changes. For some time, there have been no indications that the unidentified engineer battalion of the 9th Tank Div, previously carried in Oschatz,	